

DONOR RECOGNITION NAMING OPPORTUNITIES

Philanthropic naming provides enduring recognition for Franklin’s most generous supporters. One can leave a lasting legacy and further the mission of the university by supporting and naming a student scholarship, endowed faculty position, physical space, or other opportunity. Here are some examples of physical spaces and other named opportunities. Donors may access a naming opportunity through a multiyear pledge or through an outright contribution.

FINANCIAL AID TRANSFORMING LIVES

Endowed, named scholarship funds provide critical support to current and future generations of students, transforming lives, and ensuring opportunities for all who belong at Franklin.

PHYSICAL SPACES ON CAMPUS

Named spaces are an opportunity to not only support the experience of our students and faculty by creating places to learn, teach, and gather, but also to honor an individual, family member, friend, or organization.

PROFESSORSHIPS SUPPORT RECRUITING TOP SCHOLARS TO TEACH TOMORROW’S LEADERS

Endowed professorships allow Franklin to recruit the world’s most talented scholars and teachers, with expertise in particular areas and provide financial support in perpetuity for their work while giving our students access to the brightest minds.
